SANDRO DORIGO

Year of birth 1978

Nationality Swiss

Before co-founding Leonteq in 2007, Sandro Dorigo was with Lehman Brothers from 2006 to 2007, where he was in charge of Swiss securitised structured products engineering. During this time, he introduced the structured products distribution and processing platform, and was responsible for the successful launch of the public distribution efforts. He started his career at Bank Julius Bär in 1994. After working for the M&A department, he joined the structured products desk, building up the structured products infrastructure. He was also responsible for the coverage of discretionary mandates and the sale of products in the Private Bank division.

Sandro Dorigo is a Certified International Investment Analyst (CIIA), and holds a federal diploma as an expert in finance and investment from the Swiss Financial Analysts Association (AZEK).
